47th Country Music Awards of Australia Judging Process

Integrity Round

The Judging schedule will be starting on 7th October 2018. There are three rounds of judging, the first being the Integrity Round. This round determines whether the entry complies with the criteria of the category. In other words is this recording eligible for this particular category? It's a purely Yes or No vote and we're making sure the recordings are all in the correct category. We have five expert panels to determine Alt Country Album, Contemporary Country Album, Traditional Country Album, Bush Ballad, and Bluegrass awards. If an entry is considered by a majority of our specialist Integrity Panel Judges for that category to not fall within the guidelines and criteria, the artist is contacted and provided with the opportunity to either select another category in which to transfer to, or withdraw that entry.

VIP Judging Round

VIP Judges are carefully selected from the Industry including artists, record companies, media, broadcasters, and other Industry professionals. This round involves the specially selected judges voting for their top 6 in each category. The numbers are carefully calculated and we end up with 5 Finalists in each category.

Auditing Process

This is a stage where the results of the VIP Judging are verified and audited by our appointed auditor, The Law Company, and the top five Finalists are confirmed in each category.

Announcement of the Finalists

The announcement of the top five Finalists in each category will take place in November in Sydney (date to be advised).

Membership Judging Round

The last Judging round involves every financial CMAA professional member, as well as the VIP Judges. At this point the VIP Judge's vote counts for 2 points and the CMAA Member's votes count for 1 point. We are relying on the judgement and expertise of all CMAA Members to help pick the winners for 2019.

Final Audit Process

The results of CMAA Membership Round are handed over to the Audit committee headed up by Tamworth's The Law Company's Michael McHugh. They will be kept secret until the announcement at the 47th Golden Guitars Awards evening on Saturday 26th January 2019 when the eventual winner or winners receive their Awards.
